Ministers in Politics.

BY JAMES BUCKHAM.

"When will ministers learn to keep out of politics?" This was the sentence that caught my eye in a religious newspaper the other day. And it set me to thinking: Why this appeal? Is it well grounded? Ought ministers to keep out of politics? The idea of the writer undoubtedly was that ministers ought not to descend to the level of present political methods. "Evil communications corrupt good manners." The clergyman who goes into the packed caucus and the subsidizing political fight, and finally deposits his one honest ballot in a snow-drift of bribes, is liable to get demoralized—to some slight extent. He may exaggerate a point, this way or that, to favor the interest of his candidate. He may even prejudice another man's candid judgment. Possibly, he might exercise his authority as a pastor to advance his cause as a politician. When such things as these are but the mildest sort of impurities in the political atmosphere, must there not be some danger of contagion in breathing it?

A very plausible sort of an argument, truly—an argument on the low plane of expediency. But suppose this same argument were carried out into all the relations which a clergyman sustains to society. He ought never, then, to go into the caucuses, for fear he might become infected with the prevalent raggedness, and filth and poverty of those sections—as indeed he might, if some wandering sand-bagger should take it into his head to violate the tenth commandment with respect to the clerical breadcloth and presumptive fat wallet. Neither ought he ever to be found in the company of many sinners at one time, as Jesus was at the publican's house. They might prove too much for his respectability. Furthermore, the same rule would require that the minister isolate himself physically, whenever there was a contagious disease in his parish. He must by no means enter any house, where some poor, uncomfortable sufferer lay shuddering into the last abyss, through the distorting mists of fever. This man's precious moral and physical health must in no wise be endangered. It is better, so our friend seems to argue, that the clergyman's professional righteousness should be maintained intact, than that he should run the slightest risk of doing any practical good in the quarters where it is most needed.

This is the reductio ad absurdum of the argument, that ministers ought to know enough to keep out of politics. But I fail to see why it is not a perfectly legitimate reduction. It assumes that a minister has no business to step out of the Murray Hill or Beacon street of exclusive righteousness, into any of the alleys which diverge therefrom, lest he himself, the man, the individual, the poor, paltry human unit, should stain his feet with the mud of human depravity. This seems to be more like a gratuitous slur upon modern practical, progressive, economic Christianity, than a piece of judicious advice to the clergy of America. The fact is that, wherever there exists the most corruption in our modern social life, wherever the trail of the serpent lies widest and blackest, there we want the ameliorating, rectifying influence of the best men whose modern Christianity is a finish. We want, above all, the help of the recognized representatives of the church of Christ.

The trouble with our American politics to-day is, that the best men keep out of them. The prevalent indifference on the part of our ablest, most honest, high-minded citizens, to the preservation in their strictest integrity of our American institutions, and the maintenance of high standards in our popular form of government, is a shame and a reproach to American civilization. You will find the best men everywhere standing aloof from the public service. It is so even in local and provincial politics. The worthiest citizens pass by on the other side, while the demagogues lead their hired retinues to the caucus and their bribed rabbles to the polls. It has come to the point that money everywhere, buys political preference. The statesman's robe is up at auction, and the doors of our legislative halls open only to keys of gold.

Is it time, then, to say that the minister, the man whose influence for good in our communities is everywhere acknowledged greatest—ought to keep himself clear of politics? Is it not rather the more urgent need that he, and all men of integrity, of wisdom, of high standards, of loyalty, and of patriotism, should give themselves to the cause of politics with heart, and soul, and will, and intellect? Our public affairs need administrators who shall legislate and who shall even execute, from other than personal and pecuniary motives. We want men in our city councils, in our mayors' chairs, in Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 27, 1889.

Real Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Peak's Mill.

Our State executive chambers, in our legislative halls, who have been placed there for their ability and their patriotism, rather than for their wealth and their offensive parliamentarism. Why should not the distinctively intellectual men of the country, the ministers, the great journalists, the educators, the noted political economists, take some large practical part in American politics? For one, should like to see our ministers and scholars sitting in Legislatures and serving the people in every noble public capacity. I should like to see, for instance, such a man as Dr. Storrs mayor of New York City; and if the entire board of aldermen of that metropolis were composed of clergymen and college professors, I could take up my morning paper without instinctively shrinking from some probable disclosure of bribery, or appropriation of public money, or monstrous act of misgovernment.

There is no way in which the ministers of this country can better serve God and their generation, at the present crisis, than by going into politics, instead of out of them. Let them strive, by practical participation in public affairs, to elevate and purify our local and national governments. Let them raise the standard of political methods by counsel and example, which all good citizens shall be ashamed not to follow. In a word, let them remember that they are citizens of an earthly, as well as of a heavenly kingdom, and that they have duties to perform in connection with the one, just as truly as in connection with the other.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searies, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much pain in breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at J. W. Gayle's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free."

Big Eddy.

Mud, mud, oh! mud; why not let us have a change?

Mr. Henry Hughes has returned home after a week's visit to friends and relatives in Lexington.

Mr. Joel Warford has left the beautiful Eddy and moved out on the Owenton pike.

Mr. J. P. Woodson has bought and moved on the late R. K. Woodson place. Welcome back to our midst.

Mrs. Jarrette Moore is the first to have young chickens in the neighborhood.

Mr. Jasper Dalton, former teacher in Walcutt District, has been very ill and was compelled to give up his school. Miss Deborah Parker was employed to fill the vacancy and the school will be closed in a few days.

Mr. H. L. Watts, of Georgetown, will preach at Walcutt school-house to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. Hope to have a large crowd.

The river has been very high the past week and quite a number of logs have broken loose. The mountain boys have our heartfelt sympathy.

MCGINTY'S PRIDE.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equalled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. It speedily cures nervous prostration, change of life, pain, dizziness and confusion in head, fits, sleeplessness, the blues, neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. G. W. Snow & Co. of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbott & Moss, of Greensburg, Ind., and A. W. Blackburn, of Wooster, O., say that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold, and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and trial bottle free at J. W. Gayle's drug store.

Madam Rumor has it that one of our fair maidens will soon wed. Who? Where? To whom?

Mr. John Long, of Pleasureville, was in this community Saturday.

Mrs. John Pierce, who has been lying very ill for the past six weeks, is reported no better.

Messrs. Lyman Graham and Jas. Watt were in and about the Mill Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Roberts, of Frankfort, preached to a full house Sunday evening.

Died—March 5th, 1891, Mrs. Lizzie Haynes, wife of Jas. Haynes, Esq., in the 40th year of her age. Deceased was a lady of amiable disposition, whom many loved. None knew that death was near until she was in its cold embrace. She leaves a large family, who deeply feel their loss, and to whom their many friends tender their sincerest and most heartfelt sympathies.

"Weep not for those Who sink within the arms of death, Ere yet the chilling wintry breath Of sorrow o'er them blows; But weep for those who here remain The mournful heritors of pain."

She was a consistent member of the North Fork Baptist Church, at which the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Alderman. The remains were then interred in the cemetery at that place.

Death Came Suddenly.

Mr. Sigman Luscher, Stricken With Apoplexy, Dies in a few Minutes.

Mr. Sigman Luscher, one of our most prominent and popular German citizens, was attacked with apoplexy, Thursday evening, while sitting at the supper table with his family, and died in about half an hour. He had not been in the most robust health for some time, but was as well as usual when he took his seat at the table with his family. He had eaten a plate of soup with apparent relish when he suddenly fell forward upon the table, breathing heavily. He was assisted to his bed where he lingered for about half an hour, suffering intensely until death came as a sweet relief from pain.

The deceased was born in Canton Aargau, Switzerland, on the 29th of June, 1833, came to this country about 37 years ago and settled in Cincinnati, but afterwards removed to Memphis, Tennessee, where he was residing when the war broke out. When Memphis was taken by the Federal troops he left there and returned to Switzerland, where he remained until 1866, when he came to this city and established the Frankfort Brewery, which he continued to operate until some six years ago when he sold the establishment to the Capital Brewing Company and was made superintendent of the establishment. About three years ago he opened the Office Saloon on Broadway, and was conducting the same at the time of his death.

He was several times elected a member of the City Council from the second ward and was a faithful, conscientious public servant. Everybody knew kind-hearted, generous Sig Luscher, and he was everybody's friend. A kind and affectionate husband and father, and a true friend. He goes to his grave regretted and mourned by a large circle of friends. He was married three times, his last wife and five children surviving him. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, of the Knights of Honor and German Benevolent Society, and his funeral, which will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Ann street, will be attended by all these organizations, the ceremonies being in charge of Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar.

Post Office Laborer Arrested.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Con. McCarty arrested Green B. Johnson, the young colored man employed as a laborer at the postoffice, in this city, upon a charge of writing obscene language upon a newspaper which passed through the office. The offense was committed last November and the arrest was made upon a warrant sworn out Thursday by U. S. Postoffice Inspector John P. Clum, who has been investigating the case. Johnson was held in the sum of $200 to appear this morning at 10 o'clock before Commissioner W. J. Chinn.

Capital Claimants.

Delegations from Lexington and Louisville arrived in the city Thursday afternoon, and laid the claims of their respective cities before the Constitutional Convention on Thursday evening. Hon. Augustus E. Willson was the spokesman for Louisville while Hon. James H. Mulligan represented Lexington. The latter gentleman devoted considerable of his time to pouring hot shot into Louisville, spoke in very complimentary terms of Frankfort and in his usual happy style advocated the claims of the Blue Grass town. The Committee will hear further argument next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Judge Wm. Lindsay will represent Frankfort before the Committee.

Bob Skillman Shot.

Mr. Robert T. Skillman, of Louisville, formerly of this city, was shot and mortally wounded in a difficulty with Lambert U. Goldsmith, also of Louisville, at Columbus, Indiana, Thursday afternoon. Mr. Skillman is a nephew of Col. Chas. E. Taylor, of this city, and resided here several years when a boy.

Spreading for Leagues Around
The marshy, overgrown lands, sunken lots and half submerged river banks, which give them birth, the seeds of malaria impregnate the air, and are inhaled at every breath by thousands unprovided with any adequate safeguard against the baneful influence. Yet such exist—potent allies to remedy or to prevent, pure in its constituents, and the professionally recognized substitute for the hateful drug, quinine. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a family specific and safeguard, foremost not only as an antidote to malarial, but also as a means of permanently removing dyspepsia, and relieving constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism, kidney and bladder ailments, and nervousness. Among invigorants it takes the first place, and is also a superb appetizer. Use it systematically.

It will probably require a week or more to try the case.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 14, 1891.

Wants the Back Difference.

A little more than a year ago there was a lively race for the nomination for the office of constable in the Bagdad magisterial district in Shelby county, three candidates being in the field, and the question was settled by a primary election. During the canvass a friend of one of the candidates bought the vote of a citizen of the Jacksonville precinct for twenty-five dollars, paying one half down, the balance to be paid later; but as the candidate for whom the voter was to vote failed to receive the nomination, the purchaser of the vote has never come to time with the deferred payment, and now the party who disposed of his suffrage has brought suit in a magistrate's court to recover the balance of twelve dollars and a half due. The case is exciting a great deal of interest and when it comes to trial some rare evidence is expected. This is a great country and its primary elections are wonderful to behold.

Lexington Consistency.

Lexington contended that should the Constitutional Convention prohibit the levying of a tax to support the State College in that city it would be violating the contract under which the College was located there, and succeeded in defeating the measure upon that ground. Now she turns around and is moving heaven and earth to induce the same body to violate a contract made nearly a century ago with certain citizens of Frankfort whereby the State agreed, in consideration for certain lands ceded to the State, to locate the Capital here—a contract more binding, if anything, than the one made with Lexington.

It depends altogether upon whose ox is gored, with the average Lexingtonian, whether a solemn agreement is to be held sacred or considered of no consequence. The "Capital of the Blue-grass" is a jewel of consistency.

Going Back to Mississippi.

Rev. Dr. James M. Lewis, formerly of this city, who has had charge of the Cane Run Baptist Church, in Fayette county, for several years, has received a call to take charge of a church in Greenville, Mississippi, and will very probably accept the same. At the time he was called to take charge of the church in Dr. Lewis has been living in Mississippi for twenty-five years, and should he conclude to return to that State it will be like going home, as the new church is in the same section where he formerly resided.

A Smash-Up.

The car used by the establishment of Mr. J. T. Buckley, on St. Clair street, to haul heavy goods up the stairs at the side of the store-room, broke loose from its fastenings Monday evening just before six o'clock, and came flying down to the bottom, carrying one of Mr. Buckley's employees, who was sitting on it, down at a rate of speed which to a lightning express train would have done credit; and landed him in a heap at the bottom. He had a wonderful escape, as he was only bruised. The street doors were knocked from their hinges out on the pavement, and the stairway otherwise littered up. A few dollars will cover the loss.

Transferred.

Mr. Will T. Crutcher, of Bellepoint, who has been in the railway mail service for several years, with headquarters in St. Louis, has been transferred from the seventh to the fifth division, and now has his headquarters in Cincinnati, his run being from that city to Nashville. His family will reside either here or in Louisville.

A Narrow Escape.

Messrs. John Shaw and Canada Goins, while engaged in catching drift just above the Pumping Station Monday afternoon, had their boat capsized, and Shaw was compelled to resort to his swimming powers to save his life. Goins was unable to swim, and was rescued in an unconscious condition by a colored man employed at Saffell's distillery.

His New Paper.

The Commonweal, Capt. Sam. M. Gaines' new tri-weekly paper, has made its appearance and the first number is upon our table. It is a bright, newsy sheet, gotten up in first class style, and the other newspaper men of Maysville will have to hustle to keep up with the pace the Captain will set for them. Here's luck to the Commonweal, may the number of its subscribers run up into the millions.

Masonic Meetings.

Frankfort Chapter, No. 3, R. A. M., meets in regular monthly convocation on Thursday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. There will be work in the M. M. and P. M. degrees. A full attendance of the Companions is desired.

Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, K. T., meets in regular monthly convocation on Thursday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. There will be business of importance and the Red Cross order will be conferred upon one postulant, therefore a full attendance of the Sir Knights is desired.

The Talbott Sale.

On Wednesday, March 25, will be interesting especially to stock breeders, as the beautiful farm to be sold lies but a short mile from the birth place of the mother of Maud S, and but a few miles from the celebrated stables of Longfellow, Onward and Madrid, while the stable of Pretender, on Mr. Steve Black's farm at the pond is almost in sight. The Talbott farm is surrounded by a charmed circle so far as horse-flesh is concerned, and is suitable for laying out a first-class trotting track. Not only the farm but everything upon it will be sold that day just as they are enumerated in the advertisement. Burgoo at 1 o'clock.

Change of Base.

Mr. Ryland D. Bedford, formerly of the Forks of Elkhorh precinct, this county, who has been living in Kenton county for several years, has removed to Georgetown and taken charge of the Spring View Hotel.

Query?

If a contract between the State and a city in regard to the location of a college is to be held sacred, why should a contract between the State and a city in regard to the location of the Capital be broken? Will Lexington please answer.

Gate Gone.

The recent high water in the Kentucky river carried away one of the gates at Lock No. 1, which will close navigation on the river until the damage can be repaired.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, MARCH 14, 1891.

The Danger Past.

The river, which rose so rapidly on Saturday and Sunday until it threatened to overflow the lower part of the city, came to a stand on Monday and Tuesday slowly began to recede, until yesterday it had gotten down to a good boating stage.

Mr. James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Illinois, says: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right today and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease, to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by J. W. Gayle.

Mysteriously Missing.

Judge John Woolums, Postmaster at Midway, left home Monday morning ostensibly to go to Lexington, but has not returned or been heard from. He left his office in charge of his daughter, who became ill and Mr. Joe Williams, one of the editors of the Blue Grass Clipper, at the request of the family, took charge of the office and has since been running it.

The following item has been going the rounds of the press, and as our druggist, J. W. Gayle handles the goods, it may interest our readers:

Having had occasion to use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it gives me pleasure to state that I found it to be the best medicine for a cough I ever used; in fact, it cured me of a cough that had baffled several other cough medicines.—N. R. Buxworth, Atalissa, Iowa.

Company Inspection.

The Johnson Guards of this city were inspected by Colonel E. H. Galt, Lieutenant Colonel Gran. Graham and Major Hall, of the Second Regiment Kentucky State Guards, on Wednesday afternoon. The company was paraded in the State House yard, put through the various evolutions, and then dress parade was given, after which they were dismissed. The boys acquitted themselves in a creditable manner.

Here it is and it fills the bill much better than anything we could say: "It gives me the greatest pleasure to write you in regard to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. During the past winter I have sold more of it than any other kind, and have yet to find any one but what was benefited by taking it. I have never had any medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction." J. M. RONEY, Druggist, Goodland, Kansas. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle.

Dr. R. Goldstein,

The well known optician, has his office at the Hotel Keyan, and will remain in our city several days longer. Parties suffering from neuralgia, or weak and debilitated eyes, should consult the Dr. and be relieved of this trouble. All errors of accommodation and refraction corrected. Nothing but the best of eye-glasses and spectacles furnished. Eyes examined free.

Council Proceedings.

TUESDAY, March 10, 91. All members of the council present except Councilmen Church and Tobin. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. The petition of A. G. Morris to sell goods by sample was referred to license committee. The petition of Gaines & Waltemade to have their license transferred to Will Luckett, was referred to license committee. The petition of J. B. Arkin, asking permission to build an addition to his house on the South Side. Granted. The petition of the Standard Oil Company, asking that a license be granted them in a proper class, was, after much discussion, referred to license committee to report next Tuesday night. The petition of P. M. Collins & Co., asking that their license be transferred to Tom Winkler, was referred to license committee. The petition of J. B. Utterback, asking permission to build two houses on the South Side. Granted. The petition of C. Gaines & Whittington, asking that their license be transferred to W. T. Gaines & Son. Referred to license committee. The petition of Wiley Williams, asking council to grant him grocery license. Referred to license committee. The petition of W. H. Hermes, asking the council to grant him a grocery license. Referred to license committee. The petition of Lucy Johnson, colored, asking aid from the city. Granted. Reports of officers for the month were received. Mr. Payne moved that the city attorney be instructed to cause a general ordinance requiring property owners to repair sidewalks. Adopted. On motion of Mr. Darnell, the assessors books were audited, and an appeal meeting set for the 24th inst. The ordinance of Councilman Parsons, directing that all accounts be presented to the clerk by the 5th of the month, was adopted.

J. C. Rogers was granted permission to erect an awning in front of his store on High street. Mr. J. B. Lindsey appeared before the council in behalf of the Standard Oil Company, and after much discussion, the matter was postponed until next Tuesday night, the license committee to report same.

Geo. A. Lewis was awarded the contract for printing the manuscript ordinances.

Several bids were received for the lease of the workhouse, all of which, after being opened, were referred to the workhouse committee, to report next Tuesday night.

An account for costs in the Sullivan case was referred to the finance committee, with power to act.

Mayor Mangan was directed to vote the city's stock in the Flat Creek Turnpike at the meeting to be held during the next few days.

The usual monthly accounts were allowed.

The council adjourned until next Tuesday night.

TOURISTS.

Weather on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c. and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. For sale by J. W. Gayle.

Heed The Warning.

It is not infrequently the case that itching pimples and irritating "cat-boils" are the forerunners of larger boils, or the more serious carbuncles. Invariably nature puts out her danger signals, and they should be heeded at once. The pimples and little boils show that the blood is not in a good condition and nature is trying to relieve the system. A few doses of Swift's Specific at this juncture will accomplish wonders. The eruption will be healed and the system cleansed of its impurities. The modern paragon of the old saying, "A stitch in time," etc., is that "Timely stitches will save nine pairs of breeches." The modern form has a touch of humor that does not modify the truth of it. In that vein, we may say that a course of Swift's Specific prevents ill results.

RIVER MEN RILED.

They want Higher Bridges and want Them Bad.

The following is an extract from an article which appeared in the Cincinnati Times-Star of February 27th.

Steamboatmen along the Ohio and Kentucky rivers are pretty much worked up on the bridge question. It appears that the Secretary of War, recognizing the fact that some bridges over the Kentucky river were not high enough above the water at certain stages to allow of free navigation, issued an order on January 9 that certain bridges be raised a specified number of feet, and this order has not been complied with. The Secretary of War has issued no order regarding Ohio river bridges, but the steamboatmen running up and down it claim that a large amount of attention ought to be directed thither immediately, for they experience great difficulties in navigation. They protest also in regard to the gauges which are put up under the supervision of Government officials. It is claimed by the river men that there have been cases where two gauges differed and where gauges have been incorrect; also that the gauges are incorrectly placed. Complaint is also made that the lights do not do proper service.

Mr. Oscar F. Barrett, the coal boat dealer, when seen by a Times-Star reporter, Thursday, said: "Now, what I am worked up about is the Kentucky river bridges. Between its mouth and Frankfort are four locks, which allow a small packet towing one barge to go through them, making the journey to Frankfort in two days. When these locks are covered, which is the case in high water in the Ohio, we could take a large boat towing three barges up the river and make the trip to Frankfort in one day. When the Ohio is at 26 feet the first lock is covered, at 42 feet two locks are submerged and at 54 feet all the locks are under water. The river is now more than 54 feet high; and this would be my best chance for doing business, but just above the first lock, a short distance up the river, is the L. & N. railroad bridge, which will not allow my large boats to go under, it being so low as to collide with the pilot-houses. This is all very bad for me, and this bridge would not interfere with our traffic at all had the order of the Secretary of War been enforced. On January 9 he issued an order that that bridge be raised seven feet. It was raised three and a half feet, just one-half the ordered distance, and we are still shut out from navigation. There is no telegraphic communication between here and Frankfort as there is from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, so that we can't tell beforehand whether or not the river is rising. If we had such communication we could run our boats up the river above the bridge, wait for the rise and then go on up the river to the next railroad bridge, just this side of Frankfort, which would stop us. Secretary Froster ordered this raised 10 feet and the mandate has not been noticed. Now there is a fine of $5,000 a day for not removing obstructions. This is all very bad for me, and this time after due notification. At Frankfort there is an old wooden bridge 13 feet above high water, regarding which the order was that it should be raised 13 feet more. This has not been taken the least notice of. This bridge was built by the State of Kentucky, which turned it over to a navigation company who returned it to the State, which, again in 1881, gave it to the Government. Frankfort now says: 'Tear down our old bridge and give us a new one.' But Uncle Sam does not do business that way. We know he does not go all over the country building corporation bridges."

"The lowest the water ever gets is eight feet, giving us a five foot margin. Thirteen feet shuts us out entirely. Do you know what that means to us? Well, it means that one of my boats, the Falls City, is rendered useless up there on the Kentucky. One of our larger customers has a distillery eighty miles above Frankfort and he has built a $15,000 coal elevator, which is useless now for he must get all his coal overland, paying eight cents a bushel more for each bushel than he would otherwise have to. The worse part of it all is that perhaps we might get past but when the people of Frankfort found that their bridge was rickety they built a pier in midstream! When the water is thirteen feet, the eddies around it forbid navigation. Were this pier removed and the bridge raised the ordered amount, thus allowing eighteen feet margin between the river and bridge at lowest and highest water, then the Kentucky river men would have just so much more benefit. Another new boat which I began building, expecting this order to be enforced, will be useless for the purpose for which it is built."

"This is a serious matter and the men who make their money by Kentucky river navigation are getting up their backs to the wall and demanding immediate attention of Congress to this matter."

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the Remedy for you. For sale by J. W. Gayle.

Forks of Elkhorn.

Last Friday was the first real beautiful day this month.

Butter is very scarce; consequently, price very high.

The prevalence of disease, gripe principally, in this section, is greater than in the recollection of the oldest.

Meers. A. T. Stedman and son have an efficient force at work in the reconstruction of their factory, and those who have sheep will find it greatly to their interest to hold the spring's clip in reserve for manufacture by those gentlemen, as every thing will be in proper running order by the first of May.

The F. & L. U. at this place is in a prosperous condition, with about 60 members on the roll, and numerous accessions each week. A bright future, from the efforts put forth by this organization, seems to be in store for the bone and sinew of the country.

Efforts will be made here next Tuesday night, at Stedman Hall, to effect the organization of a Building and Loan Association.

Mr. Thos. Greenup and bride have been in our midst since last report.

Mr. John Martin, who has been sick for several months, still remains in a critical condition.

Mrs. Naomi Ely, son, Frank, and daughter, Miss Mattie, of Lexington, attended the funeral of her father, Mr. W. G. Kennedy, here last Tuesday.

Mr. W. G. Kennedy died Sunday, March 8, 1891, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. F. Goddard, aged 81 years and 3 months. Though afflicted for a long time, the immediate cause of death was pneumonia. He was an exemplary christian, having been a Baptist for quite a number of years, and probably one of the oldest Masons in the state, having belonged to the Craft about 60 years. Brother Alderman conducted the religious exercises, assisted by Brother Burdin. The remains were conveyed to Georgetown for interment.

Miss Amanda Williams, of Bath county, who had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Thos. Whittington, at this place, left for home this week.

Mr. R. C. Church lost his fine mare Lena S a few days since, stomach trouble.

Dr. O. B. Demaree, of Christiansburg, has located in our midst; has his office at Mrs. Sarah Featherston's.

Messrs. B. B. Bigstaff and Wallace Williams spent several days in Fayette county this week.

Mr. John Martin, an old and highly respected citizen of Stedman town, died last Sunday, after an illness of many months duration. He had been a consistent member of the Baptist Church for a number of years, dying in the triumph of the Christian's faith. He leaves a wife and several sons, together with a large circle of friends, to mourn the loss. Rev. E. S. Alderman conducted the funeral services in his usual impressive manner. Heaven's richest blessing attend the bereaved.

Regular services at Buck-Rest tomorrow at 11 o'clock a. m. and 7 p. m.

Miss Jane Harper is on a visit to friends in Chicago.

The county bridge spanning North Elkhorn at this place has been condemned by reason of its unsafe condition. We understand an iron structure will take its place.

Quite a number of changes in residence have taken place in our town and vicinity recently.

Mr. Morris Martin, of Louisville, attended the funeral of his father, Mr. John Martin, last Monday.

The beautiful weather the first of this week appeared very much like spring, causing the farmers to commence preparations for the year's sowing.

The Midland a Through Line.

Three surveyors and engineers, under the charge of Col. Anderson, a railroad contractor, are going over the line of the extension of the Midland from this city to its terminus in Bath county. These gentlemen are, we understand, doing this for the E. V. G. & T. who are thinking of taking hold of the Midland, extending it at both ends and make a competing line to Louisville with the L. & N. We hope this deal may be consummated, and if it is, it will at once jump to the front and tackle Lexington for the first place in the Blue Grass.—Paris Record.

Nebraska Echo.

Mr. G. D. Bennett, cashier of the Savings Bank at Tecumseh writes, "I have effectually removed two bad bog spavins with two applications, each of Quinn's Ointment." This remedy has the endorsement of the best breeders in Kentucky.

Wants the Earth, With the Moon as a Bangle.

Lexington is not satisfied with the favors extended by the Constitutional Convention to the A. & M. College. It wants the Capitol, in addition. It wants it, but we are of the impression that, in its efforts to get it, is upon an exceedingly frigid trail. Possibly the possession of the earth, together with the moon as a bangle to dangle upon its bracelet, might measurably appease the cravings of Lexington.—Mayville Commercial.

Throws up the Sponge.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Times has this to say upon the Capital removal question in his letter to his paper Thursday afternoon.

Frankfort is going to keep the State Capitol. This rather positive prediction may not be welcome news to Louisville or Lexington, but that doesn't affect the truth of the matter. It is given as a piece of early news, and while but an individual opinion, is backed up by a long and uninterupted study of the situation; every day talks with the men in whose hands the matter rests, and a knowledge of the probable report or reports which the committee will make to the Convention. A majority of the latter, vacillating though it may be, is now in favor of the present location, though it may differ as to the best means of reaching this end.

The argument, pro and con, before the Location Committee, and which is referred to further on, was closed last night. The committee will meet tomorrow night or the night following and make up its report. The plural should here be used, for the committee of eleven is badly divided, and will make not less than three reports. At least five will sign a report recommending that the convention locate the Capital permanently at Frankfort and adopt the provision as a part of the Constitution to be submitted to the people. Another part of the committee will recommend that the old provision, which is still a partial victory for Frankfort, be retained, while still another report will recommend a submission of the question as a separate question to the voters of the State.

If the inside appearances and privately expressed preferences are deceiving, and a majority of the convention is not for Frankfort in one or the other directions, the people of the present site still have another big chance for victory in the probable defeat of the convention's work, already so loaded with innovations and conflicting issues as to make its doom every day more and more certain. These are a few of the reasons for the foregoing predictions of what the outcome of it all will be.

Poisons in Cosmetics.

It seems to be the fashion for young ladies with pimples and blotches on their faces to make experiments with various cosmetics. Madame Pittypuff advertises her foreign-named compound, composed of a combination of poisonous mineral substances that doaden and burden the delicate substances of the skin. There are no complexion like those that nature gives. The tonic, strengthening and health-giving effects of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) permit nature to work her will in this respect, as thousands of ladies both young and old, have discovered. The cheapest and most beautiful complexion depends on health and vigor. It is the office of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) to give vigor and tone and health to the system, and in this way to give lustre to the eye and roses to the cheeks.

A Hustling Judge.

Judge Ira Julian, of the Common Pleas Court, is a hustler. He adjourned his court at Williamstown Friday afternoon at six o'clock. He then boarded the train and came to Georgetown, where he argued a case before Judge Jerry R. Morton after supper. Saturday morning he went to Versailles and held a special term of the Common Pleas Court and arrived in Lexington at noon, and took the train for home. Judge Julian is making an excellent judge and the people of the district are well pleased with him.—Lexington Transcript.
